Over recent months, the European Refugee Crisis has dominated news headlines. At the same time, tens of thousands of Halal ready to eat meals are on their way to Southern Europe, having been produced by Saahtain Foods in Dubai and purchased by charities in the UK and corporations in the UAE. For many of the refugees, travelling on foot to their destination in Northern Europe, it has been months since they had a halal meal. The refugees are fleeing conflicts in Syria and Iraq but unfortunately, many are finding developed European countries to be similarly hostile. Footage of a refugee camp, filmed by the wife of an Austrian politician, caused outrage with headlines such as, 'People treated 'like animals' in Hungary camp.'

New UN figures suggest more than 700,000 refugees have crossed the Mediterranean into Europe in 2015, the worst migration crisis since the end of the Second World War. Unless their journey is made easier, there is a risk of similar scenes as those seen during World War II, with hungry civilian refugees looting warehouses for food.

'We are again humbled to be part of a solution to the challenges of feeding refugees on foot,' says Adeel Ali Khan, Founder and CEO of Saahtain Foods. 'A Dubai firm providing food assistance to refugees and collaborating with charitable organizations as far away as Europe is a fact to be proud of. It will be a genuine #RefugeesWelcome.'

Saahtain Foods is a Dubai based producer of 100% halal meals that are ready to eat, nutritious and produced in the UAE. Their products offer convenience to food service, institutional catering, disaster food relief, Hajj pilgrimage and military rations. In addition, they also support individual donors and corporations in their philanthropic and CSR efforts.
